Last Stronghold of Irish Irregulars Surrenders to National Army Forces—Success of National Cause Purchased at Cost of Blazing Buildings and Terrible Destruction in O'Connell Street—Cathal Brugha, Prominent Insurgent Leader, Taken Prisoner—Remnants of Irregular Forces, Driven Into Granville Hotel and Surrounded by Fire Made Desperate But Futile Resistance With Automatics and Rifles—De Valera Reported Prisoner of Free State Forces.

Dublin, July 5.—(By the A. P.)—The scene of the struggle of the insurgent Irish forces was virtually ended tonight with the surrender of small groups of men who had been fighting for the past week behind the barricades, and the capture of one of the principal leaders, Cathal Brugha, former minister of defense. But the success of the national cause has been purchased at the cost of blazing buildings and terrible destruction in O'Connell street, to say nothing of the casualties.

There is still no information as to the whereabouts of Eamon de Valera, who has apparently escaped from the Free State's net.

In the later afternoon, when ten buildings, including three hotels, were aflame, the remainder of the irregulars, driven into the Granville hotel, with fire on all sides, still maintained a desperate resistance with automatics and rifles, but it was already clear that they could not long delay the end.

The final attack by the Free State troops commenced at mid-day after a lull during which the firing slackened greatly. The regulars then adopted the desperate plan of bombing the insurgents. A bomb was hurled into the Granville hotel, and soon faint wisps of smoke crept through the shattered windows and suddenly a burst of flame in front, followed by dense volumes of smoke. The flames spread swiftly, and the fire brigade hurried to the scene. But a fusillade from the irregulars in the Granville hotel compelled them to retreat. The fire attacked the ground adjoining the Granville, and in less than two hours the roofs had collapsed. The buildings were completely destroyed. Bombs and ammunition stored in them caused numerous explosions.

Shortly after 1 o'clock an armored car took up a position in front of the Granville, and within half an hour the front of the building was a flaming ruin.

Even while the lower floors of this hotel were burning, the upper windows, lit by a fire from the upper windows, but by 3 o'clock the remnants of the irregulars, five men, emerged from the rear of the building and surrendered.

Other irregulars, driven from place to place by the flames took up a position in the Granville, and from all points of vantage they directed a brisk fire against the regulars. In the meantime, fire broke out in the Granville.

DESTINY OF U. S. IN HANDS OF EX-SERVICE MEN

Marion, Ohio, July 5.—(By the A. P.)—So long as the American Legion is concerned with the preservation of the constitution and of law and order, the American Legion is an everlastingly secure. President Harding asserted in a brief address today to several thousand world war veterans, who held a reunion here.

Reminding them that they were now charged with a greater responsibility than they were on the battlefields of France, Mr. Harding said that the future of the United States was in the hands of former service men.

"I have no hesitations in saying," he added, "that it is in your good hands."

The president urged the men in his audience, all of whom earlier in the afternoon had participated in a historical parade which he reviewed, to be vigilant against any kind of civil war-time concession and deviation.

The president started off his last day among the home folks with a round of golf on the new links here with O. S. Bapp, a close Marion friend, General Pershing, and Charles G. Dawes, former budget director. At luncheon at the home of C. B. Kling, Mrs. Harding's brother, the president went to a reviewing stand to witness the parade, which depicted various stages of Marion's history.

During a forty-five minute wait for the procession to start, Mr. and Mrs. Harding were surrounded by the throngs of the Marion Glue club, of Columbus. As the parade passed, both the president and Mrs. Harding frequently recognized an acquaintance in the procession waving a greeting.

The president and Mrs. Harding spent their final evening in Marion at a pageant, which portrayed the life of the Republic and brought Marion's centennial and home coming celebration to a close. The presidential party is expected to leave Marion for Washington tomorrow morning by automobile.

MAIL ROBBERS HELD IN $125,000 BAIL

Robbery of Mail Truck in New York Last October—Prisoners Identified by the Truck Driver.

New York, July 5.—Three men accused of the $125,000 hold-up and robbery of a mail truck freighted with securities in lower Broadway last October, and suspected with complicity in the $70,000 theft from an American Express company truck in Buffalo in December, were held in $125,000 bail each today by United States Commissioner Hittcock.

Frank Haverkamp, who drove the truck, identified the trio as the men who held him up. Detectives who arrested them Monday in an apartment overlooking Gramercy park recovered $400,000 of the stolen securities, some hidden in the apartment, but the most of them were in an abandoned barn on Long Island.

The three captured here have prison records in this country and two of them—Garman and George Anderson—are international in their springs. Last year they were in Berlin, London and Paris, according to George T. McCarthy, the express company agent who charged them with the Buffalo robbery.

McCormack, who was also known as "Bryce," and was called "The Count," by his companions.

It was through a woman that McCarthy got on the trail of the trio. Her name is Mary Fuller and she was arrested March 4 for attempting to pass a traveler's check—one of those stolen in Buffalo—to a Fifth Avenue department store.

She was released when she convinced the authorities she had come by the check legitimately, but McCarthy, who had learned that she had received the check, tracked her boarding house and finally spotted the trio.
